

Transfer of copyrights of IWGDF documents

On behalf of the International Working Group on the Diabetic Foot (IWGDF) and its Editorial board, the undersigned Jaap J. van Netten, PhD, secretary, grants the Asociatia de Podiatrie/Association for Podiatry, Romania (to be named “user” hereafter), the copyright to translate into the Romanian language the IWGDF Guideline document(s) (to be named “documents” hereafter) according to the following conditions:

1. The copyright will be transferred only after the chair of the IWGDF and the secretary of the IWGDF Editorial Board have provided a written approval of the translated final text.
2. If necessary, the documents may be adopted to local views/needs, but all changes made in the original text have to be clearly marked as different from the original document. Separate translations of these changes in the English language need to be sent to and approved by the IWGDF Editorial Board.
3. It is not allowed to use brand names in the text, only generic names of treatments, devices, or antibiotics should be used, as in the original text.
4. The translated text can be distributed as booklet, DVD, USB stick or online. When online, it can be published on one local website only. The IWGDF needs to be informed of the mode(s) of distribution. The translated text will also be made available on www.iwgdfguidelines.org.
5. All pictures and photographs that are part of the documents can be included in the translation. The front cover of the translated document should be identical to the English version.
6. In the translated version, the authors of the original documents should be mentioned as such.
7. User is not allowed to transfer the copyrights of the translated version to any other third party. The translated version of the IWGDF Guidelines should include a statement that the copyrights of the documents were obtained from the IWGDF and that any reproduction of the translated content is only possible when permission has been given by both the User and the IWGDF.
8. The IWGDF Guidelines do not contain medical advice. The IWGDF does not guarantee that the content of these documents covers all possible uses, direction, precautions, drug interactions, or adverse effects that may be associated with any diagnostic or therapeutic treatment. Readers may not rely on the application of any information as being applicable to specific circumstances. The IWGDF does not assume any liability or responsibility for damages or injury to any person or property arising from any use of any information, idea, or instruction contained in the IWGDF Guidelines.
9. After having completed the translation, 2 (two) copies of the document have to be sent to the Chair of the IWGDF and the secretary of the IWGDF Editorial Board (see addresses below).
10. It is strongly recommended, in order to create more awareness and to implement, to organise a national consensus meeting in which the translated document(s) will be launched and in which the various health care workers involved in the diabetic foot will participate. It is also strongly recommended to have yearly national meetings (in a kind of National Diabetic Foot Study Group) for sustainability reasons.

I hereby confirm that I agree with the terms described above and will act according to the conditions outlined.
